AT MEETING HERE

Urban Renewal Financing Urged For Savings, Loan

Savings and loan associations were urged today to look upon the field of urban renewal as a "tremendous untapped source" for home mortgage investments and as an opportunity to provide a great public service for the country.

C. Elwood Knapp, of Pittsburgh Penn., president of the United States Savings and Loan League, told the annual management conference of the California Savings and Loan League here, that participation in urban renewal programs would not only help savings associations keep their lending funds invested, but also would have "political implications" that should not be overlooked.

HE ALSO URGED savings and loan associations to focus more attention on the problem of housing for the aged.

The new Administration, Knapp said, is going to place a tremendous amount of emphasis on urban renewal.

Knapp, who is president of the Friendship Federal Savings and Loan Association, of Pittsburgh, said that the savings and loan business had already taken the first step in this direction at its recent Legislative Conference in Washington, D.C., in drafting two proposals for submission to Congress for authority to invest a portion of their assets in urban renewal and in housing for the aged projects.

IN OTHER ADDRESSES today, Carroll W. Parcher, editor and publisher, Glendale News-Press, urged savings and loan executives to "Sell the Sizzle, Not the Steak," and Gerritt Vander Ende, president, National League of Insured Savings Associations, urged that the group meeting at El Mirador Hotel establish a "goal" for people to save.

Parcher said that creative and imaginative thinking in advertising has not been used in the savings and loan industry, and urged that advertising be kept to "enjoyments" resulting from saving, which would include those "both present and potential."

"MORE SAVINGS will be attracted by the use of creative and imaginative thinking to weave dreams—dreams of travel to far places, of homes high on a hilltop, of dishwashers and woodwork-machinery and college educations and motor boats—than by offering coffee pots, or steak knives or saving stamps to potential savers," he advised.

Vander Ende urged a replacement in advertising today of the word "fear" with the word "future," in discussing saving.

He also pointed out that the savings and loan industry has well established itself in the field of home financing and "custodians of thrift," and asked that the field of savings and loan financing be expanded to other family financing requirements, with the group making every effort to "gear our legislative program in this direction."

GOLDBERG HAILS ADDED BENEFITS

WASHINGTON — Labor proposal to extend jobless benefits would provide a $1 billion dollar injection of buying power into the lagging economy.

Goldberg told the House Ways and Means Committee that the emergency program to pay extra unemployment compensation to an estimated 3 million idle workers was a "very crucial part" of Kennedy's antirecession plan.

GOLDBERG ALSO said he feared the latest unemployment figures "may indicate a rise" in the country's 5.4 million jobless.

The House was expected to act with unusual speed in response to Kennedy's request for immediate legislation to aid jobless who already have used up their benefits.

Informed sources said the committee probably would approve the measure with amendments early next week. This would send it to the Rules Committee which could clear the way for quick floor action. If no roadblocks develop, the House could rush the bill to the Senate by the end of this week.

GOLDBERG WAS the first witness called by the Ways and Means Committee.

The labor secretary, who returned Sunday from a five-state tour of depressed areas, said the current situation is grave enough to warrant immediate attention.

"This program will quickly put into circulation almost a billion dollars of purchasing power to buy the necessities of life," he told the committee.

IN SOUTHERN EUROPE

Millions Watch Total Eclipse

LONDON — Millions of Europeans on both sides of the Iron Curtain today watched the skies or television sets as the moon passed between the sun and earth, causing a total eclipse in a wide area of southern Europe.

Hundreds of scientists observed the phenomenon from observatories, mountain tops and high-flying planes.

CLOUDY SKIES make the eclipse invisible to Londoners, but scientists said 93 per cent of the sun's face was obscured over the British capital at the height of the eclipse.

The eclipse was total for 2 to 2½ minutes along a 1,000-mile path running from southern Spain eastward into Siberia. No other eclipse is scheduled to be visible in that area until 2081.

AN ITALIAN-AMERICAN movie company used the natural phenomenon as a background for a scene depicting the crucifixion of Christ.

The U. S. Air Force sent a four-man team from a research laboratory in New Bedford, Mass., to observe the eclipse from Florence's Arcetri Observatory.

U.S. FIGURE SKATING TEAM AMONG 73 KILLED IN CRASH

Cairo Youth Attack Two Embassies

Lumumba Death Protest Hits U. S., Belgium

CAIRO — U. S. — Student demonstrators protesting the death of former Congolese Premier Patrice Lumumba today attacked the U.S. library inside the American Embassy compound and set the Belgian Embassy on fire.

The attack on the American library was made by Egyptian and African Negro students. They also overturned three embassy cars.

THE STUDENTS smashed windows in the library's terrace windows by hurling stones from the street.

Black uniformed police carrying bamboo sticks had been stationed in front of the embassy, and broke up the riot three minutes after it started. There were no casualties.

THE BELGIAN Embassy was hit by 10,000 demonstrators who set the building on fire after forcing Belgian officials to haul down the Belgian flag.

Earlier, a silent Lumumba "funeral procession" was staged by demonstrators who marched past the United States, British and Belgian embassies.

The subsequent attack on the Belgian embassy came in two waves. The first group stoned embassy windows, ripped away shutters and tore down the Belgian coat of arms over the embassy gate. They placed a picture of Lumumba in its place.

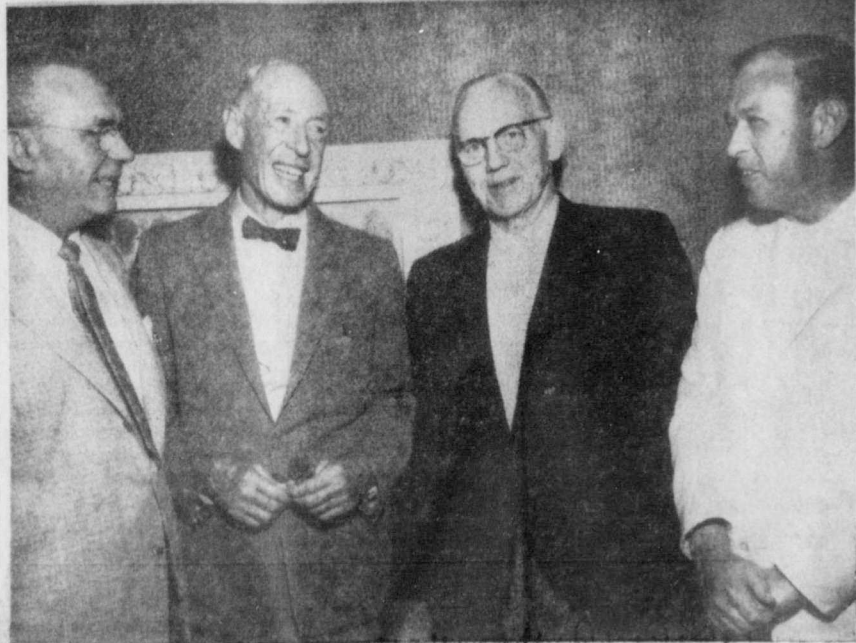

Pedestrian Killed By Car in Indio

INDIO — A man identified as Rayford Cannon of Los Angeles, a transient, was killed last night when he darted in front of a car driven by Ronald Aaron Conner, 34, an officer of the Indio Sanitary District, Indio police reported.

Police Chief Pat Cunningham said that Cannon was apparently killed instantly.

U.S. CHARGES NEGRO RIOT AT U.N. TODAY WAS RED INSPIRED

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. — A screaming fist-swinging demonstration by pro-Lumumba Negroes that U. S. officials said was Communist inspired disrupted a meeting of the United Nations Security Council today.

About two dozen Negroes began the demonstration in the packed public gallery of the Security Council as U. S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson defended Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld and said Russia's demand for his dismissal was "a virtual declaration of war on the United Nations."

TWO PHOTOGRAPHERS were injured and spectators were jostled as U. N. guards ejected male demonstrators while their female companions continued to carry "Vive Lumumba!" and unintelligible epithets until the gallery was ordered cleared. All the Negroes interviewed by newsmen said they were Americans.

Official Washington sources explained privately to newsmen that the demonstration was Communist inspired and said another was planned for 4 p.m. outside U. N. headquarters here. They linked the near riot with mob violence against Belgian embassies abroad following the slaying of leftist leader Patrice Lumumba in the Congo's dissident Katanga Province.

STEVENSON, WHO attacked Russia's Congo policy, apologized to the council for the outbreak "to the extent that Americans may be involved."

He served notice that the United States opposed any outside interference in the Congo—from Russia Belgium or any other country—and said the United States "will not stand by" if widespread violence menaces civilians and refugees in the country.

SOVIET AMBASSADOR Valerian A. Zorin, pressing his resolution which calls for Hammarskjöld's dismissal and an end within a month to the U. N. Congo operation, said he was disappointed in Stevenson.

The demonstration erupted in the midst of Stevenson's speech.

STANLEY HALL of the New York Mirror was knocked unconscious and Joel Landau of United Press International, seeking to aid Hall, suffered a deep gash in his forehead when a demonstrator struck him with brass knuckles or a length of chain.

Council president Sir Patrick Dean of Britain recessed the council for five minutes and ordered that the public gallery be cleared.

THE DEMONSTRATION erupted without warning when Negroes leaped up in several parts of the packed public gallery, which seats about 400 persons, and began screaming.

U. N. guards rushed down the aisles to remove the demonstrators, who refused to go quietly. Scuffles and fist-swinging occurred as the judo-trained U. N. security men wrestled several demonstrators up the sloping aisles to the public corridors.

TRANSLATOR GETS $130, NEEDS $5,398

Translator Stations received $130 in donations during the past two days, leaving $5,398 of the $15,000 operating fund needed still to be raised.

Directors of the non-profit television service are asking a $15 donation from each Translator user.

Belgian Jet Airliner Crashes in Landing

BRUSSELS, Belgium (UPI)—All 18 members of the United States figure skating team flying to Prague for an international meet were among 73 persons killed today when a Belgian jet airliner crashed out of a bright blue sky near Brussels Airport.

The victims included a total of 52 Americans.

Among the dead was America's "queen of the ice," Laurence Owen, 16, who won the North American figure skating championship only four days ago in Philadelphia.

RELATIVES AND friends of the victims watched in horror from the Zaventem Airport Terminal as the Boeing 707 faltered and fell into an endive field nearby. It exploded and burst into flames so intense there was no hope of rescue.

This was the first major air disaster of 1961, the first crash of a Boeing 707 jet in commercial service, and a great tragedy to American athletics. A number of American families perished with the skaters.

THE CAUSE OF the accident only a mile from the end of an airport runway after a nonstop flight from New York was a mystery.

The sky was clear and the sun was shining brightly when the Sabena plane dove to the ground while circling for a landing. Airport officials said they lost radio contact with the pilot as the plane approached the field.

The plane nosed into the field only yards from a cluster of red brick homes.

SABENA AIRLINES officials said there were "no survivors" among the 61 passengers and 11 crewmen. One man working in the field was killed and another was seriously injured.

Miss Owen, Winchester, Mass., and the other skaters were members of the U. S. team en route to Prague for the International Skating Championships.

ALSO KILLED in the crash was Miss Owens' equally famous mother, Mrs. Maribel Vinson Owen, a nine-times figure skating champion herself, and Laurence's 20-year-old sister, also named Maribel, who is a skating star in her own right.

Ike Is Answering Letters at Home

Former President Eisenhower is spending a considerable portion of his time while on vacation here answering bundles of letters from well-wishers.

A spokesman said Tuesday that Eisenhower has received "thousands" of letters since leaving office last month.

GOING TO CHICAGO

Kiner Resigns Padres Position

Special to The Desert Sun
SAN DIEGO — Ralph Kiner has resigned as executive vice president of the San Diego Padres to work for a radio station in Chicago.

Padre president James Mulvaney said that Kiner, who also served as general manager of the baseball team, would broadcast White Sox games with announcer Bob Elson over CFCL Radio.

KINER WILL start his new

The disaster wiped out U. S. hopes for skating victories in the 1964 Olympics. U. S. senior men's champion Gregory Kelley, Colorado Springs, Colo., also was killed.

THE CASUALTY toll was the eighth highest among the world's airliner disasters.

Rescue workers said bodies were so badly mangled that identification would be difficult.

King Baudouin sent a representative to the scene within an hour. He was joined by officials of the U. S. Embassy and Belgian Premier Gaston Eyskens.

The man killed on the ground was another sports figure, Theo De Later, 21, a well-known cyclist who was released from military service just two months ago.

A MAN WORKING in the field with him was reported to have lost a leg.

Patient Care At Angel View Hits New High

DESERT HOT SPRINGS — New patient enrollments at the Angel View Crippled Children's Clinic here totaled 80 during 1960, the largest number since the establishment of the work in 1953, board president Sam Benton announced.

Follow-up care was given an additional 62 patients during the year, and 290 return office visits were logged in the AVCC operations.

Orthopedic examinations totaled 80, and 3,000 therapy treatments were given, including physical therapy, ultrasonic, electro-therapy, alvanic, and infra-red and ultra-violet treatment. Six children received surgery.

Dedication Celebration Set at PD

Ribbon Cutting
For New Road
To Be Feb. 22

PALM DESERT—A gala celebration will mark formal dedication of Palm Desert Drive here at 2 p.m., Wednesday, Feb. 22, according to Don McNeilly, Palm Desert Chamber of Commerce manager.

The new county road begins at the junction of highways 74 and 111, and runs west for the entire length of the community's business district on the south side of Highway 111.

Officiating at the ribbon cutting to take place at the intersection of San Luis and Palm Desert Drive will be Bill "Hopalong Cassidy" Boyd. According to McNeilly he will be joined by Riverside county supervisor George Berkey; county road commissioner A. L. Kieth; Jack Paine, president of the Hotel and Apartment Owners Association; Dick Kite, president of the Board of Realtors; Jimmy Gray, who heads the Retail Merchants Association, and representatives of all service and civic organizations in Palm Desert.

Parade leaders will be the talented Falcon Band from the Desert Sun School of Idyllwild. The band will be under the direction of Phil Butler of Palm Desert.

A host of horses and decorated autos are scheduled to take part in the parade, after which free refreshments—soft drinks—coffee and cookies will be served.

Kizer Elected New President Of CC Rotary

CATHEDRAL CITY — Wayne Kizer has been named new president-elect of the Rotary Club here, president Ed Slaughter reported.

The new officers, who will take office July 1, include Sam Croce, vice-president; James Ramsay, secretary, and Russell Hewitson, treasurer.

Directors-elect include Robert Cordes, John Palmer, Tom Eckstrom, Carroll Davies, and ex-officio director Slaughter.

The club ratified during the election meeting Monday a board action to change membership meetings from Monday noon to Tuesday noon, beginning Mar. 14, Slaughter said.

Establishment of an Airport Commission to administer the business of the Palm Springs Airport

Klocke Named To AV Board

DESERT HOT SPRINGS — The Angel View Crippled Children's Foundation has named Walter Klocke to the board of directors replacing Leighton Nugent, who resigned because of business commitments.

if the March 14 bond election is successful, will be made Wednesday night by the council in its regular council session.

The only hearing that has been scheduled for Wednesday night council session is on the George Wright cooperative apartment project.

The City Council also will repeal its present picketing ordinance.

Radio manufacturers produced more than 5.5 million radios, or 35 per cent of their total output for automobile use.

ance, and will introduce a new one, because of certain charges handed down by California courts.

Councilman Harry Paisley has asked that Palm Springs anti-manure ordinance again come up for discussion, even though it failed to pass at last week's meeting.

These are a few of the major items of the approximately 12 matters scheduled to come before the council.

FIRST IN SERIES

Questions Relating to Airport Purchase Answered by Committee

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The Desert Sun today is starting publication of a series of questions and answers prepared by the Airport Committee to appraise the citizens of Palm Springs in abbreviated form of the basic problems connected with acquisition of the Palm Springs Airport through the bond election March 14. Additional questions by citizens will be welcomed after this series is completed, and answers will be secured by the Desert Sun.)

1. Q. Why is purchase of the airport necessary?

A. Because Palm Springs is a resort community and the airport is the City's "lifeline to the World," and is a tool with which to improve the economy. Also, the airport's importance is stressed by the possible closing of the Palm Springs Railway Station.

2. Q. How does an airport improve the local economy?

A. By providing ease and convenience of travel for tourists, businessmen, and local residents; creation of airport related businesses; Palm Springs' datelines; maintenance of real estate values; creation of jobs; and tax assistance in the form of increased sales taxes.

3. Q. How much did airport user spend in Palm Springs last year?

A. Reliably estimated at over twenty-two million dollars, based upon reports made by Leigh Fisher and Associates and information furnished by Clyde Barnett, Director, California Aeronautics Commission.

4. Q. Are there any other advantages that will accrue to the citizens of Palm Springs?

A. Yes, the citizens are acquiring a solid investment in Palm Springs real estate, which they will hold in fee simple, plus the acquisition of land for park and recreational purposes.

5. Q. Access-wise, what is the advantage of the airport to Palm Springs?

A. Statistics reveal that Palm Springs with the airport is available to three times as many businessmen and tourists as it would be without one.

6. Q. How much has the use of airlines and general aviation grown since 1953 on a national scale?

A. At a rate of 10 per cent annually, and this is continuing.

8. How much has the use of airlines grown since 1950 in Palm Springs?

A. It has increased at the rate of 71 per cent annually.

8. A. Why does Palm Springs Airport have a strategic location for general aviation?

A. One of the most important routes for people flying private planes cross-country is through the Coachella Valley.

9. Q. What economic importance does this have for Palm Springs?

A. In 1959 we had 36,263 private planes land and take off at the airport. Each plane landing adds approximately $75 per day for the duration of its stay to the Palm Springs' income.

'Giant Ditch' Flood Control Work Halted

Water District Tells Need of Rights-of-Way

Lack of rights-of-way across Indian lands has stymied further work in the Palm Springs area on the giant ditch being dug by the Coachella Valley County Water District to cope with the "granddaddy of floods," the once-in-a-century deluge.

Lowell Weeks, general manager and chief engineer of the District, revealed today that halting of the Whitewater River channelling project along the northeast edge of Palm Springs leaves millions of dollars of home and commercial developments dangerously exposed to uncontrolled floods pouring out of Whitewater, San Geronimo, Snow and Chino Creek Canyons.

THE WATER DISTRICT is digging a wide, dike-protected ditch for a distance of 50 miles, from the mouth of Whitewater Canyon to the Salton Sea, to contain the anticipated flow in the major flood, and work is progressing on schedule in all areas except in the Palm Springs section.

When it comes, the 100-year flood could reach a volume of 132,000 second feet — three times the size of the deluge that ravaged the Coachella Valley in the 1938 flood which produced only 42,000 second feet in the Whitewater basin, Weeks said.

"AT PRESENT our channel project dead ends one mile north of Ramon Road, and there we must wait until legal technicalities are worked out on some Indian lands," he said.

"Also, for a mile below Ramon Road, where a 1,600-foot wide trough was constructed last year, there is no dike along the western bank of the river because the Indian tribe refused to grant the necessary right-of-way. Water reaching the Ramon road crossing could easily break out through the unprotected west side of the streambed and do tremendous damage to valuable lands," he explained.

BELOW RAMON road, except for the missing dike, the wide storm drain is completed all the way to Tamarisk Country club. Work is expected to begin later this spring on the Tamarisk-Thunderbird Country Club strip. And engineering work is nearly complete on the section eastward from Thunderbird to link up with a section of completed riverbed just west of Indio. Until this work is finished, lands lying adjacent to the channel will be in danger from major floods but will not be harmed by minor flows since the existing streambed would handle small runoffs.

The channelling works north and east of Palm Springs are urgently needed to provide the initial control of the tremendous outpouring of water that could be expected from the watersheds in case of the major flood, Weeks explained. Whitewater Canyon drains a vast area extending into the Big Bear section. The San Geronimo Pass canyon produces a heavy runoff, this being complicated by the flow from Snow and Falls Creek. And Chino Canyon would pour a great volume of water across the north edge of Palm Springs.

"ALL OF THIS water needs to be channelled into the main streambed of the Whitewater and contained between adequate dikes so it can be escorted safely and harmlessly past Palm Springs," Weeks said. "Unless these upper works can be constructed, a flood stream could pick its course most anywhere and ravage valuable property. The Water District would like to see this part of the project finished so we could rest easier in times of flood."

At the mouth of the Whitewater Canyon a giant debris cone will be left undisturbed since a great volume of flood water would sink into the porous underground. Below this cone a 2600-foot wide channel will be provided and all the water nudged into this wild mouth. Downstream the riverbed constricts to 1,600 feet in width, and then is narrowed into a 300-foot trough with higher dikes. This width continues on past Indio and toward the Salton Sea — ultimate terminus of the big ditch which will have cost the water district close to $4,000,000 when completed.

Weeks estimates that nine more years will be needed to finish the job, but if the main sections can be completed past Palm Springs, Cathedral City, Palm Desert and Indio, the bulk of the highly-developed areas can be afforded protection.

And A Good Reputation Must Be Earned!

Safeway meat buyers are hard to please when it comes to quality. They believe that only the best is good enough for Safeway customers. These fine meats are tenderly handled every step of the way to the stores to be sure none of this quality's lost.

All Safeway meats—beef, lamb, pork, cured meats, poultry, and fish must be top quality. But Safeway's pride and joy is fine beef. Safeway has a quarter of a century of experience in aging fine beef. Safeway knows how to age beef!

Then to quality, correct handling and scientific aging, Safeway Meat Department employees carefully trim off all excess bone and fat that does not belong on the cut. That's why you do not see those costly "tails" on Safeway T-Bone and Porterhouse steaks, or the chine bone on a Safeway roast.

Art Collection Of Mrs. Spitz Now on Exhibit

A part of the art collection of Mrs. Leo Spitz will be on display in the east gallery of the Ferrall Playhouse, Deep Well, the week of Feb. 14-20.

The gallery is under the direction of Ida Itkin. This is the first private collection shown.

Mrs. Spitz was raised in show business, and even when money was scarce, her father encouraged her to visit galleries and libraries. So her interest in art started at an early age.

Her late husband, Leo Spitz, started her collecting pictures and art objects. Once started, she proved to be an avid collector. She visited galleries, talked to curators and read books to learn to choose her purchases, now collects the world over. She buys from well-known galleries, and in out of the way places like the Flea Market in Paris.

There are 142 pictures in Mrs. Spitz' collection in Palm Springs, more in her Beverly Hills home. Around 60 will be shown in the Deep Well Gallery Show.

BENEFIT SET FOR UNIFORM, MUSIC FUND

DESERT HOT SPRINGS —The "Desert Hot Notes" led by Mrs. Verna Murphy will conduct a benefit dance concert for a uniform and sheet music fund at 8 p.m., Saturday, in the Town Hall here at Eighth and Cactus Streets.

Featuring the three member "Tim's Stardusters" combo of Tim Edmonds, Mike Simms and Gary Foster for the dance program, the full program will include Raymond Catalano and Barry Smilen with the trio.

AFTER SUNSET

Frank Scully Tells Other Side of Star Jack Haley

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Frank Scully, a longtime Village resident, has reported the doings and antics of show business personalities for decades. In the current issue of Catholic Digest, however, Scully deals a penetrating and perceptive analysis of another ofttime Village visitor, Jack Haley.)

By FRANK SCULLY

That charming song-and-dance man Jack Haley was projected into stardom by a rather automatic process. He quit high school to become a song plugger in Philadelphia. From there he worked up an act (Haley and McFadden) that did well in big time. Then Jack was shot into musical comedy, radio, and the movies. It all happened as if on a conveyor belt.

He says that he was an "automatic Catholic," too. From his boyhood days in Boston he went to church on Sundays mainly because his mother hauled her sons out of bed in time for Mass. (Jack's father had died when Jack was six months old.)

HE SAID HIS PRAYERS by rote; they meant little to him. He married in the Church, and brought up his children as Catholics. But for most of his adult life, he was one of those cradle Catholics who never quite get out of the cradle.

Then, about 15 years ago, Jack went on a retreat in the California hills, at Malibu on the Pacific.

The retreat had a powerful effect on him.

Not long afterward, while he was crossing Pershing Square in Los Angeles, he heard an outdoor orator ask why he should have an interest in God. "It's my belly I'm interested in," confided the speaker.

"Then you're a pig," Haley interrupted. "You should be a man with a soul!"

HE EVEN SURPRISED himself. Was easygoing Haley becoming Haley the Heckler?

Once, in the days when he worked as an errand boy for a lawyer in Boston, he had heard a man preaching in Scollay Square. He couldn't understand what would drive anybody to proclaim his beliefs in public. "I just thought the old fellow was lightheaded," Jack recalls.

Today, Jack Haley, who starred in 50 motion pictures and is rated among the all-time show-business greats, is proud of only four things. They are his happy marriage to Flo McFadden; his acceptance into the 3rd Order of St. Francis; his diploma as a graduate of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine (which qualifies him to teach catechism where there are no parochial schools); and his honorary L.L.D. from Stonehill college, Brockton, Mass., in recognition of his work as a lay catechist.

JACK GREW UP in a profession where bows and applause mean money in the bank. He once was in a show—a flop—which a trained seal stole the act. Haley refused to let the slippery flipper take a bow. He now works in a field where the soul, not the play, is the thing.

He is quite eager to proclaim his own beliefs in public, even at a party. He feels that everybody is panting to hear how he found his faith. His wife gets after him every now and then. She fears some may think him a fanatic.

"It's a funny world," he sighs. "Wallace Beery, who was my neighbor at one time, had an enormous room full of sports equipment—hundreds of fishing rods, guns, thousands of flies, excess piled on excess. But nobody ever called him a fanatic!"

AT ONE COCKTAIL party he ran into an ex-seminarian who said he could no longer take much on faith.

"Did you ever travel on a jet?" Jack asked. "The pilot locks himself up front. You don't know what he is doing or if he plans to parachute out of the plane and leave you on automatic pilot till you run out of fuel and crash. But you take him on faith. Why not also take God on faith, especially when eternal life is at stake?"

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The second part of Frank Scully's article on Jack Haley will appear tomorrow.)

425 Picnic at Bremerton, Kitsap Reunion

Approximately 425 persons attended the annual Bremerton-Kitsap County, Wash., picnic held at Tamarisk Park in Palm Springs. The highlight of the picnic was the reading of a letter from Bremerton Mayor H. O. "Whitey" Domstad, who extended greetings to Kitsap County residents who attended the outing in Palm Springs.

HE EXPRESSED his regret for not being able to attend, but explained that this was an election year, and he had to remain close to his desk.

Many of those present at the Sunday picnic spend their winters in the Coachella Valley, and still others planned their vacations to coincide with the outing.

ROBERT HEATH, picnic chairman, said that many of the people present were visiting Palm Springs for the first time.

Bremerton is the home of the large U. S. Puget Sound Naval Shipyard and as such has employed thousands of government employees, many of whom have retired and are living in Southern California. This, added to the number of Navy men who have been on active duty at the Sound, made it possible for many "old friends" to renew friendships at the picnic.

Erle Stanley Gardner Is Dinner Guest at China Inn

By ORPHA GEIER

Dinner guests at the China Inn last week included Erle Stanley Gardner, his secretary and Anita Haskell Jones of Palm Springs.

Paul Fredrick Henzel of Columbus, Ohio, who is with Regan Distributors of Indio, is now making his home here on Covey Street.

Margaret Stein entertained eight guests at a turkey dinner last week in honor of her son Stanley, who has been transferred from Chicago to Monrovia, to set up a new factory for Bell and Howell Kodak and Equipment. His family will join him in Monrovia where they will establish their new home.

Weekend guests at the home of Cliff and Bobbie Silkwood on Dillon Road were their son and daughter - in-law, Tom and Tina Silkwood of Los Angeles, and their son Terry and June Jackson and Kathy of Glendale.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Forgrave are back from New Lexington, Mo., and are now living again on Sanborn Street.

Ben and Dorothy Fratillo were out from Los Angeles for a few days last week on business.

Rodney and Betty Jo Boykin, Rhonda and Rodney Jr. of La

Puente were out on Sunday for a visit at the Yeckley home. Betty Jo's mother, Helen Nichols, who had been visiting here for a week, returned home with them. This group was joined Sunday evening for a barbecue on the Yeckley patio by the Messrs. Bill, Ann and Pamela and Ray Smith.

Mike and Diane McCance are the parents of an 8 pound daughter, born Jan. 31 in Rosemead. The little lady has been named Kimberley Anne.

Houseguests for the past month at the Rubin Fox home in Dos Palmas has been Mrs. Fox's niece Lillian Friedman of Fairlawn, N. J. Lillian enjoys the pools and climate here so much that this is her third and longest visit. Mrs. Leslie Fox drove out this week from Reseda and Lillian accompanied her home for a short stay.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack De Mar who have a chain of restaurants in Chicago, paid a surprise visit here recently to Mrs. De Mar's sister, Ann Miller.

Dinner Reservations Closed

Reservations are already closed for Saturday night's black tie dinner dance, which Palm Springs Pathfinders are holding at the Tennis Club, reservations chairman Mrs. George Gannon announced today.

Elegant as the affair will be, with golden cherubs and pink and white and gold accents, with special music and menu, and with everything adding up to a wonderful party, the party sets a precedent for local charity events, inasmuch as all proceeds will go into the organization's philanthropic work. Entire costs of the dinner dance are being underwritten by donations. Mrs. Austin McManus is picking up the check for the elaborate decorations.

Mrs. W. B. Malouf and Mrs. Joseph Froggatt, co-chairmen of the dinner dance, have planned it as a celebration of Pathfinders' first five years of working for Palm Springs youth.

Pathfinders, wearing long formal gowns, will act as hostesses, welcoming arriving guests.

The George Robertsons will host a table, which includes the Fred Albertsons, Clarence Beesemeyers Enor and Jack French. The Earl Hendersons and Mr. and Mrs. Norm Waters will host a table, which includes the M. O. Andersons, Herbert Carpenters and Edward Hunts. With Dr. and Mrs. John Costello will be the Kenneth Kirks, Ed Robbins, and George Berkeys.

Pathfinder president Mrs. S. P. Manasse and her husband, the Walter Brunmarks, John Dawsons, Clarence Browns, and Walter Braunschweigers will host a table, including the Franklin S. Paynes, John McClures, Edith and Dick Edwards.

The Joseph Froggatts, with Mary and Ken Evans, the George Barretts and Chauncey Needhams as assistant hosts, will have the Monte Herberts, Harry Clatworthy and Mrs. Jessie Baumgardner at their table.

The Dolph Oberfelds, Earl Buckinghams and Bill Crawford, assisted by Mrs. Louise Nicoletti, will head a table which includes the Frank Berings, the Lou Manseaus, Don Gordon, Mrs. Edmond Szekely, Jan Ogden and George Shaw.

Dinner dance chairman Mrs. W. B. Malouf and her husband head a table for Messrs. and Mmes. George Irvin, Don DeFor, Tom Malouf, O.E.L. Graves, Sterling Pailing, Ralph Smith, Mrs. Dorothy Long, Misses Carol Malouf, Sharon Olsen, Gary Malouf and George Richard.

With Mrs. Austin McManus will be Dr. and Mrs. Lee DuBridge (he's president of Cal-Tech), Mr. and Mrs. Winchester Jones (dean of Cal-Tech), Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Platt (president of Harvey Mudd), Mr. and Mrs. William Pickering

(head of jet propulsion program), Mr. and Mrs. Emery Walker (dean of Harvey Mudd), the Max Goodlands, Judge and Mrs. Hilton McCabe, Mayor and Mrs. Frank Bogert.

With Mrs. Walter McManus will be the George Hearsts, Neil Coles, Harmon Whittingtons and Mrs. Ward Warner. With the Victor Hugo-Vidals, will be the Lester Callahans, Ernie Youngs, Leonard Delues, Matt Skoreys, A. Van Americas.

The George Wheeler's will have the Irvin Eisenbergs, Ben Reads, Charles E. Beckers and John Kings, with them. The Walter Sibberts, with Mrs. B. J. Sanchez as assistant hostess, will have the Adolph Brenners, Curtis Griffins and Ray Lowell.

With the Howard Morrisses will be the Joe Hales, Fred Klemp and Harold Coopers.

Others with reservations include: Messrs. and Mmes. James Abernathym, Richard Bagdasarians, Beverly DeTarrs, Earl Cordreys, Gus Kettmans, Louise and Carl Schooss, Mrs. Frank Russell Payne, the Merritt Joslyns, Orrin Cliftons, H. R. Hamiltons, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph K. Dennis.

Valentines are the oldest type of greeting card known, according to historians, with hand-made specimens dating to the 1400s.

Oriental Tea and Style Show Benefits Scholarship

Against a background of blue sky and lazily drifting clouds reflected in Carter Lake, fashionably clad models paraded before members of Panhellenic and their friends, gathered around the pool and inside the beautiful home of the Thomas Carters on Carter Lane at Bermuda Dunes, for the annual Scholarship Tea.

Mrs. John C. Bernet commented the show against the background music of Chuck Travis.

Carrying out the Oriental theme of the tea, the clothes presented by Edith Morre of Palm Desert, were geared for shipboard wear and sightseeing and travel in the Orient. The new Oriental colors of orange, tangerine and pink were featured. Famous designers such as Don Loper, Pat Premo, Chana Baker, Eve Limited and Jantzen, were represented, as well as the rapidly rising new fashion designer from California, William Fearson.

A cherry blossom print merged with the charming cherry blossom decorated screen before which the models turned. Enormous rice paper umbrellas of Oriental design lined the path around the pool where models showed off embroidered cottons, organza and linen, cornhandler design and Dupioni silk from Italy. Miss Longwill in Pink Perfection dress and sweater leading her poodle, Pierre, in the same shade of pink, was a picturesque segment. The collection included whites, laces and practical sports clothes. All had the wearability adapted to life in Coachella Valley as well as for travelling.

Hostesses, headed by Mrs. Earl Coffman, were gownned in beautiful, old, authentic Japanese ceremonial robes and Chinese mandarin coats loaned by Mrs. Cal Brown, Mrs. Florence Hart Larned, Mrs. James L. O'Reilly and Mrs. George F. Anderson. Camellias worn in their hair were from the gardens of Mrs. R. S. Cosgrove.

The tea table, arranged by Mrs. Cosgrove, with its aristocratic silver service and exquisite lace table cloth held rare Oriental figures which were placed amongst the colorful camellias. As the models changed ship-side clothes for comfortable sightseeing dresses to visit the Oriental port, Barbara Clark and Patti Lytle were met by hosts, George F. Anderson and Frank Popenoe who were garbed in authentic Oriental robes and hats. Mr. Anderson seated his guests at the low chow table and performed a short tea ceremony for the pleasure of the watching guests as commentator Mrs. John C. Bernet gave a background of the tea service. Authentic implements and gestures were used.

The models, Virginia Field, Taylor Dunlevie, Vi Gail Glass, Dorothy Perkins, Estelle Longwill with Pierre, Barbara Clark and Patti Lytle then moved into the final stage of the show — dresses for shopping, attending Kabuki performances and for enjoying evenings in the scintillating and gay night spots of the Orient. Shoes complementing clothes were from Ted Land. Mrs. James L. O'Reilly, president, flew back from Rome for the affair. Mrs. George Munns and Mrs. Wade Ellis and their committee diligently watched that the serving of tea and delicacies was uninterrupted. Mrs. Florence Hart Larned and Mrs. Ross Cunningham collected and awarded the beautiful door prizes. Favors were Oriental

Slice a Nut

NEW YORK (UPI)—To slice, simmer shelled Brazil nutmeats for 55 minutes, drain. They will slice lengthwise without breaking. To make curls, simmer shelled nutmeats for 5 minutes, slice paper-thin with vegetable peeler. To chop, put Brazil nutmeats through the coarsest blade of the food grinder; to make larger bits, use a French knife on a chopping board.

Quick Treat

When unexpected guests drop in, treat them to deviled canape that you can make in minutes. Blend together 3/4 cup of ripe olives, chopped, 2-3 cup of deviled ham, 1 tablespoon of ketchup, a few drops of lemon juice, 1/4 teaspoon of Worcestershire sauce, 3 small sour pickles, minced and 1 tablespoon of mayonnaise. Serve on small, crisp crackers or toast squares. Makes about 1 1/2 cups.

Around Town

... with Hildy Crawford

Mamie Doud Eisenhower this week settled into her new role of former First Lady ... and wife of America's bestloved public figure ... went shopping in a Rancho Mirage market like any other housewife ... and went lunching at the Racquet Club like any other winter visitor ... She looked about her at the sunshine and the mountains ... and it was evident she liked what she saw ... She looked about her at the modern house she is occupying on the golf course at one of the world's most beautiful clubs ... Eldorado ... and she sent a letter over her personal signature ... that delighted Jock Williamson who decorated the house ...

Thanking him for the yellow chrysanthemum plant ... which he had sent as a welcoming gesture ... she extended her compliments for "assisting Mrs. Poulson in decorating the house" ... and said she found it extremely livable and comfortable ... and "One of the most attractive homes I've seen" ... P

Dear Hostess (whoever you are) ... if you sent out invitations for something or other decorated with golden sprays of wheat ... you'd better not be expecting to receive an rsvp from Billie (Mrs. Ron) Ellis ... on account of ... Billie received a blank invitation ... She's intrigued but puzzled ... what does she do now?

Rosetta Leeb has Bill confined to bed and is giving him special attention to get him over the flu in time to preside as host at their Monday night party at the Tennis Club ... The Leebes are taking over the Club that night ... when it is normally dark ... and have invited around 150 friends to a black tie dinner party ... Judging by the elaborate party the Leebes gave last winter at Romanoffs ... everything will be special ... with music by Bernie Richards orchestra ... Among the guests will be the Freddie Martins ... who are coming down for the party ...

Glimpsed Lillian and John McClure ... at the President's Ball at Thunderbird ... but didn't get a chance to tell her how much she's been missed ... They have been in Acapulco and then in their June Street home in town ... On the 16th several Palm Springs women ... including Vicki Malouf, Edith Edwards and Rita Irvin will be going in to attend the luncheon which Lillian is giving for the group who were in Acapulco at the same time ... Mrs. Ralph Hemphill and Mrs. Fred Nason will be among others in the luncheon party ...

Sue Evans ... billed as the singing swing-harpist ... who opened a fortnight's engagement at La Paz Hotel last night ... is the daughter of the Leonard Cleeks of Sagebrush Drive ... Sue is the gal who volunteered to be the first woman into space ... and has carried the title "Moon

A long dinner table in the diningroom was festively decorated with flowers and there was a gift at each plate ... Guests drank a birthday toast in champagne and the candle-lit birthday cake was carried in with ceremony ...

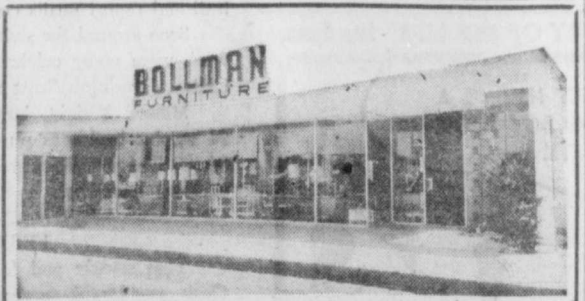

Old friends and neighbors in the party were ... the Ralph Smiths ... who entertained the group afterwards with an evening of recorded music at their home on Vereda Sur ... Ben Shearers, John Hookers, Earl Hendersons ... Ray Goulds, Merrill Crockets, Auntie Pearl McManus, Muriel Fulton and Madge Phillips ...

No Doubt About Golf Capital

Don January's $50,000 hole-in-one and the blizzard that hit the eastern part of the country last week combined to dramatize the Golf Classic as a very spectacular show. Countless millions read on their sport pages of Don's feat and prize—then were able to view on their TV sets the striking contrast between the weather in Palm Springs and most other parts of the country. Even Florida couldn't post a high of over 70!

It all added up to the greatest publicity break this area has ever had—with the possible exception of Ex-President Eisenhower's visits.

There is no doubt about it any more—Palm

Springs is firmly established as the nation's Winter Golf Capital. There is not even any serious contention. Where else could such a golf tournament have been held?

Putting on an event of this magnitude is a tremendous task. The Desert Sun joins with people throughout the area in complimenting all who served on the numerous committees and worked so hard to make sure that everything went along smoothly. It is a fine example of what can be accomplished through the cooperation of the Clubs and other groups. All can share in the satisfaction of having staged one of the most successful events of its kind anywhere, any time.

The 7 Daring Young Men

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the last article of a series by a famed reporter describing how America's astronauts are preparing for manned space flight and what they will encounter in their great adventures.)

By BOB CONSIDINE
LANGLEY AIR FORCE BASE, Va. — Those seven, clear-eyed and courageous visionaries we call the astronauts, encouraged by the short voyage into space of the chimpanzee Ham, now face their expanding future with more surety. It is an awesome frontier they behold.

Around mid-April, the first of them will duplicate the kind of ride the primate made down the Atlantic testing range last Tuesday. As spectacular as this will be, it is in their minds just a tedious additional bit of training for deeds that lie beyond.

THEY NOW LOOK not only beyond that 130-mile high and approximately 300-mile down-range voyage at speeds of more than 4,000 m.p.h. but also beyond the historic climax of the Project Mercury mission for which they volunteered: Their 3-lap earth orbits, now set for June. Each expects to be 1) alive, 2) healthy, and 3) play an active role in Project Apollo.

Project Apollo is from three to four years away, though contracts for the enormous program will be completed by May of this year. The principal contractors are Convair, Martin and General Electric. The Apollo capsule, or space vehicle, will weigh 20 tons as opposed to the 1-ton Mercury. It will carry three men, not one. Its orbit will be 300 or more miles out in space, not 100. It will enable men to survive out there for extended periods, not the four hours planned for the Mercury tests.

APOLLO'S ASTRONAUTS will exist in a "shirt-sleeve" environment, and by the time they go up we hope to know how best to feed men in space and how to protect them from such hazards as the Van Allen Belt of intense radiation which envelops the world hundreds of miles above us.

The Saturn, the monstrous booster which will lift the Apollo vehicle into orbit and enable man to reach into the unknown sea of space as never before, is now taking shape at the George C. Marshall Space Flight Center, Huntsville, Ala. Its engines are also being tested there, under the eye of Maj. Gen. Don R. Ostrander and Dr. Werner von Braun, both loaned by the Army to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

IT IS A RASH understatement to say that Saturn is a breathtaking rocket. It will derive its propulsive forces from eight clustered Jupiter rockets, each developing 175,000 pounds of thrust.

Two additional stages will add supplementary thrust after the vast first stage uses up its fuel. And in addition to the roomy 20-ton manned space vehicle there will be, at the crest, an escape tower capable of pulling the Apollo capsule away from the main body of the missile in the event of functional failure on the launching pad or catastrophic trouble en route to orbit.

U. S. SPACE authorities are of the opinion that Russia has been able to boost into orbit much heavier satellites than our own because Soviet scientists developed a missile with perhaps 750,000 pounds of thrust. Our mightiest in operation today is the Atlas of 330,000 pounds thrust—the model "D" of which will be the single stage booster that puts the Mercury capsule in earth-orbit.

Saturn and its detachable upper decks will pack more than 1,500,000 pounds of thrust. Its eight-barreled first stage will be too large to ship from Huntsville to Canaveral by rail or road, but must go by barge.

THE ASSEMBLED Saturn, with all in place, will stand about 15 stories high and weigh a million pounds. Hundreds of thousands of gallons of water will be needed to protect its huge pad from the massive fires that burst from the eight big nozzles which are Saturn's exhaust pipes.

"Our only concern is that on lift-off it might push the earth away," Lt. Col. John Glenn, the Marine among the astronauts, joked as the men discussed the project.

SEVEN OR EIGHT years away is Nova, whose dimensions surpass man's comprehension. It will stand as high as a 22-story building, pack millions of pounds of thrust and reach bigger loads and more men and equipment hundreds of more miles out into the spatial sea around us.

Beyond Nova, which, unhappily, means an exploding star, and perhaps ever replacing it before it reaches its vast pad, will be missiles propelled by atomic energy. The atom is the only hope of truly extensive voyaging in space, particularly if recovery from outer space—after, say, a landing on the moon—is at stake.

THE RATIO BETWEEN the fuel consumed and the payload of a liquid-fueled rocket, or even the solid fueled missiles that are coming off the production lines, is a narrowing one. Veritably the mountains labor and erupt to beget a mouse in space.

The reactor of the atom powered rocket would heat hydrogen or some other light gas and cause it to squirt out the rear with the force and flame of the liquid oxygen now used in conventional missiles. But it is believed that an atom-powered missile would get as much as three times the mileage, or lift commensurably larger payloads than the liquid-fueled pioneers.

STRETCHING THE fuel tanks is a matter of utmost importance in the realm of space technology, of course, and for obvious reasons:

The moon, our nearest neighbor, is 240,000 miles away. The closest planet, Venus, is 26,000,000 miles from us; Mars, 49,000,000. A trip to Pluto, the outermost planet of our insignificant solar system, would entail a voyage of 3,680,000,000 miles—years of travel. In each case, a "stretching" agent, but the gravity fields will be utilized as problem of return and recovery is immense, beyond words.

A learned article by Allen C. Fisher, Jr., in National Geographic sketches a portion of the awe-provoking problems involved in bringing back astronauts from a heavenly body as close as the moon:

"IN THE COMIC strips, space ships beat the reentry heat problem by gently lowering themselves to earth with reverse-thrust rockets. Try to do it in reality, however, and you must build a ship at least 50 times as big as those proposed in order to carry the necessary fuel for braking.

"Return from the moon also involves another severe problem, guidance. If the lunarnaut slams into the atmosphere at too steep an angle, he may be crushed by abrupt deceleration in the thickening air, and friction may make a fiery pyre of his ship. If the angle is too slight, his ship will merely graze the atmosphere, insufficiently retarded, it will hurtle past earth and out into space.

"SO SCIENTISTS have figured he must hit an 'entry corridor' 60 miles deep. But 60 miles is less than one per cent of the earth's diameter, a fraction corresponding to the thickness of the skin of an apple. Suppose William Tell had been told, 'shoot the skin off the apple on your son's head—but don't hit the apple.' That's the accuracy requirement returning moon voyagers face."

It is to learn more of these wonders that seven men now stand ready to bet their lives they can pass the first test.

BEFORE THERE can be a project Apollo, project Mercury must be met, conquered and fled away in the history of space exploration. Before a tight-fitting Mercury capsule can go aloft with a man strapped on its moulded couch, that man must have knowledge of his craft, the benefit of a world-wide system of telemetering stations on the ground and seas below him, and every expectation of getting back alive.

The thoughtful scientist who will choose among the seven, Robert R. Gilruth, director of NASA's Space Task Group, gave the project a realistic appraisal as we sat in his office here:

"WE'VE HAD OUR problems, and there will be more to come. The question of the booster, for example. To get a man in orbit we need the biggest booster we know how to build, the Atlas. Fine as it is, it does not have as basically reliable an engine as a car or a plane.

"And since we had to face the fact that we cannot make a rocket work all the time, we had to develop and stress a system by which the man in it could escape—not only by his own wits and actions but by automatic sensors more sensitive than human reactions. We've had to live with the escape problem from the start. It's as old as the project itself.

"People complain that we have moved too slowly. I don't personally see how we could have moved faster. The future isn't clearly mapped either. We don't know how many orbital flights we'll have to make before we learn what we must learn—so that Apollo and the more distant projects can proceed with confidence.

This Side of The Sun

By Phat

While council remains astride the fence, we'll have to live with those noxious scents.

Comes a gentleman to me the other day with what I think is a legitimate complaint. Triggering the above lines.

I WAS STANDING, getting sand in my shoes, on the unpaved sidewalk just south of Tahquitz Drive at Indian Avenue.

Observing how futile the four-way boulevard stop system operated and pondering the dire need of traffic signals there when this long-time Villager approached me.

"I know," he started, "that this lawn fertilizer topic can be funny to a man with your sense of humor."

THEN HE WENT ON, "But it's getting so that it's no laughing matter. Council ought to get off the fence and do something. 'Seems to me that with a bit of intelligent thought an ordinance could be drawn which would hurt no one but would benefit all of us."

"I PERSONALLY know," he continued, "of two families who will pass up Palm Springs this fall. They love the desert but won't be here until after Christmas."

"They moved out of Los Angeles because of the smog and ran afoul, which is a good word, of our October odors when the lawns go in."

HE STOPPED for a moment as we watched four cars tangled in the intersection, each trying to steal the right of way. Then he went on:

"It can be done," he said. "It is being done. One of the greenest and prettiest lawns in town is that of the Ingleside Inn where former councilwoman Ruth Hardy holds sway."

"SHE USES some kind of an odorless chemical.

"It probably costs a little more than the smelly stuff, I wouldn't know. But there's not a thing there to offend the nose. And as for results—that lawn each year and the flowers, are a sight to behold."

"I CAN'T SEE why council is holding back on a law to eliminate a nuisance. 'You trifled with the subject the other day and said that part about 'possession' of manure would hurt one of our attractions, horse—back riding, by hobbling the stables."

"Well, the smart people should be able to produce an ordinance to take care of that. Protect the stables but protect the people, townspeople and visitors, too."

"YOU'VE WRITTEN, during the years, things for a better Palm Springs. And you've found a lot of fun in it. But this fertilizer business is serious. Hammer away at it."

Just then two drivers, a man and a woman, got into an argument over the right of way. He left me to enjoy the verbal fracas.

STAN DELAPLANE:

Winter in the Sun

With the jets whistling in and out of Guatemala, the Land of Eternal Spring is less than half a day from North American winter. (It took only four hours from Los Angeles by Pan American's direct flight. From their Houston terminal, it would be about two.)

The City still has little of the tourist wisdom of Mexico City.

HOTELS AND SHOPS change your money at the exact rate—the Guatemalan quetzal of 100 centavos is equal to American dollar.

Only at the airport exchange bank they take out 15 cents on a $20 travelers check.

It is really a mistake to change money at all. All shops take American and Guatemalan money interchangeably. And they often give you American dollars in change.

THE CITY SPRAWLS over several miles of rolling valley land, edged with jagged, live volcanic peaks.

Not sprawling because of a large population—the City is less than half a million. But because it is a two-story town. Guatemala's history is one of violent earthquakes.

Builders keep to the two-story level. And downtown Guatemala City's main Avenida Sexta resembles any small town in Texas: A large square, the Presidential palace of olive-green stone, the major church—the Cathedral. And then the row of two-story shops.

THE RESIDENTIAL sections and back streets are no different. Except that there are no shop windows. The walls are blank with a few iron-barred windows.

Living is done inside, around a central, flowery patio.

IN THE FAR OUTER suburbs, a few Americanized houses show the northern influence. And I counted on the skyline four recent, glass-and-steel apartment houses.

"But older Guatemalans don't live in them," said the man at the hotel desk. "They remember the big earthquake of 1917 when all the town fell. Only the young people who have been in the States live there."

THE MOST BEAUTIFUL part of Guatemala lies an hour's drive away in the old capital of Antigua.

Once it was the colonial capital of the Captain Generalcy of Spain's Kingdom of Guatemala. A feudal dependency that covered Guatemala and the four other countries of Central America down to the jungles of Panama.

It has its own shaken history.

THE FIRST CAPITAL—it was founded by Pedro de Alvarado, the red-headed, tough lieutenant of Cortez—was moved to avoid Indian raids.

The second was shaken by earthquakes and washed out by floods from the volcanoes. Fire and Water. (The second stories of this Ciudad Vieja still stand above the hardened mud nearby.)

THE MOST NOBLE and Most Loyal City of St. James of the Knights of Guatemala was founded in 1543. It shook almost constantly for the next 200 years. The earthquake of 1717 alone destroyed 3000 buildings.

In 1773, The Most Noble, etc., city began vibrating like a piano string. It shook for two months. But it seems by this time the people were used to it.

"ON JULY 29," said the hotel man, "Antigua was ripped to pieces by terrible shocks that lasted day after day."

"That is when they moved the capital over here. The Spanish architects determined that in our valley there was less damage than in the others."

"Still we do not live in houses more than two floors high."

"Except for the young people. They have not forgotten our history. But the young are careless. I, myself, would not enter one of those new apartment buildings."

Dear Abby...

...by Abigail VanBuren

DEAR ABBY: Our son is going to marry a girl from off a farm. We like her very much but I wish she had better taste. She plans on having a dressmaker copy a wedding gown from a picture she cut out of a magazine five years ago! The gown looks somewhat dated to me. I'd be much happier if she would go to a store and buy a modern, ready-made gown.

Our friends are quite fashionable and we don't want our son walking down the aisle with a bride who looks like a country hick. How can I get this message across to the girl without hurting her feelings?

MOTHER OF THE GROOM

DEAR MOTHER: The selection of the bridal gown is the privilege of the bride. Bridal gowns need not be "new" to be lovely. (Many brides proudly wear their grandmothers' gowns.) Trust the girl's judgment. Her "taste" was good enough to select your son, wasn't it?

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I disagree on this: I say it is improper for a married woman to greet another woman's husband with a kiss. Furthermore, if a man really loves his wife, he doesn't have to hold still for kisses from other women.

My husband says it doesn't mean anything and is not worth making an issue of. I refer to the "Hello, Darling!" business with open arms and hugs and kisses. I am sick of it. I'd like your ideas on the subject.

RESERVED

DEAR RESERVED: No man has to hold still for a kiss on the lips unless he wants to. But a kiss on the cheek is hardly grounds for a battle.

DEAR ABBY: I have thoroughly enjoyed your letters concerning office Christmas parties and might I add a little word of comfort to the wives who think they are so abused? My husband works for a large company and they do not wait for a big event like Christmas—they have a party for everyone who has an anniversary, farewells, promotions, etc. At least once every two weeks my "big executive" has his fling. All I can say is more power to the dumb blonde secretary who can squeeze a few treats out of him—that's more than I have been able to do for twenty years.

A PARTY WIDOW

CONFIDENTIAL TO BROWN EYES: Don't confess "all" to a man who is as unforgiving as your boy friend appears to be.

Rehashing That Second Title Bout

Ingo Now Thinks He Was Doped

BY OSCAR FRALEY
PALM BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — A grim-faced Ingemar Johansson admitted Tuesday that he thought he was doped when he lost the world's heavyweight championship fight back to Floyd Patterson last June.

"In my opinion, something definitely was wrong," said the Swedish iron man who will try to regain the title at Miami Beach Convention Hall on March 13.
Whitey Bimstein, his veteran trainer, backed him up with the assertion that "he looked goofy" the night of the fight after losing six pounds overnight.

"I'M NOT ACCUSING anybody," Bimstein bit off, "but he ate the night before the fight in a place frequented by gamblers. The big boob trusts everybody and he might have had something in a cup of tea or something."

Ingemar acknowledged that he had conferred with doctors in Sweden on the possibility that he had been doped and they confirmed that in a drugged state he would have been more susceptible to Patterson's punches.

"I can't say myself that I actually was doped," Ingemar cautioned, "but if you are doped, you feel good. That's why people take dope. Well, I felt good but I felt funny. I felt too good. And Patterson never before knocked out anybody with one punch."

JOHANSSON POINTED OUT that in the bout he "acted entirely different" than he ever had before.

"I was laughing at people beside the ring for no reason at all," he said, "even between rounds I would look down and laugh at strangers. I was acting entirely different than I ever had before. An then there was the way I was fighting. I didn't move."

Looking over slow motion films of the bout, Johansson pointed out that in the second round, when he staggered Patterson, he did not follow up his advantage but stood watching his opponent.

"What was wrong with me?" he asked rhetorically. "If I follow up right then if I could, the fight is over. You tell me, how could I miss such a chance?"

BREAKING WITH BOXING custom, Johansson shunned seclusion and went to New York the night before the last bout and appeared on a television show. Then he had dinner at a mid-town restaurant.

"He could have eaten something bad," Bimstein admitted, "but he also could have been given something in his food or in something he drank. That's what we think happened."

Bimstein emphasized that, in all his years as a trainer, working with such as Jimmy Braddock and Max Baer for title fights, he never had seen a fighter lose more than "two or three pounds" overnight.

"THEY DRY OUT a couple of pounds," Bimstein declared, "but Ingemar lost six pounds. He looked like a ghost and he didn't have diarrhea. For one, I'm sure somebody must have slipped him something."

Johansson, listening tight-lipped, nodded agreement.
"From the way I was knocked out," he added, "I should have had some bad after - effects. But the next day I didn't feel anything. Not even a headache."

Box Seats for Angel Games Now Available

Women Hold Their Own in Tourney With Top Male Pros

Desert Angels Committee, sponsoring the Los Angeles American League Angels in their spring training activities at the Polo Grounds have a limited number of box seats for all practice sessions and exhibition games available. Harry Voelker, executive manager for the DAC said Wednesday.

The box seats were tabbed for the guarantors but since several did not take advantage of the privilege because they would be out of town at the time, the seats are now on sale to the general public. They are priced at $50 each and entitle holders to all Angel activities at the Polo Grounds.

APPROXIMATELY 50 of these box seats are available, Voelker said.

In the meantime, action on the advance sales of general admission to the grandstand was being speeded.

These seats are also for all practice sessions, exhibition games and other activities of the spring training program.

Voelker said the demand is so good that the Polo Grounds will probably be sold out for the first two games, March 11 and 12, when the Chicago Cubs open the exhibition season.

GENERAL ADMISSION grandstand seats are on sale in Palm Springs and surrounding communities. They entitle the holder to a seat in a special roped off reserved section.

They may be obtained from the following chairmen:

Palm Springs—Lou Levy, John Seamus.
Palm Desert—Phil Franklin, Hal Kapp.
Rancho Mirage—Bill Brubaker, Danny Callahan.
Cathedral City—Burt Lamb.
Thousand Palms—Mrs. Myra Welcome.
Desert Hot Springs—Ren Kean, Cliff Babin.

McAnany, Burke Sign Contracts With L.A. Angels

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Be-spectacled outfielder Jim McAnany and utility man Leo Burke are the 12th and 13th players to join the Los Angeles Angels' group of signed ballplayers.

The pair returned their inked contracts Tuesday to general manager Fred Haney of the New American League club.

McAnany, 24, former Loyola High School and University of Southern California star, batted only .228 last year for San Diego of the Pacific Coast League but once led organized baseball in batting with .400 at Colorado Springs. He hit .276 for the Chicago White Sox in 1959.

Burke, 26, performed for another sunshine-soaked club last year in Miami, hitting .255 and collecting 15 homers and 34 runs batted in.

Louise Suggs Ties 5 Men in Par 3 Event

Entitle Holders to All Baseball Action At Polo Grounds

PALM BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Little Louise Suggs, the female Ben Hogan from Atlanta, was dead even for the lead with five men professionals as they headed into the final 36 holes of the $10,000 Palm Beach Par Three Invitation golf championship today.

The 37-year-old "Little Miss Poison" of the ladies' pro fairways fired a one-under-par 28-35 — 53 in the first round over the wind - swept 2,688 - yard course which was as good as the best of 19 male sharpshooters could do Tuesday.

TIED WITH HER were former U.S. Open champion Lew Worsham, former PGA kings Chick Harbert and Dow Finsterwald and Palm Beach professionals Clyde Usina and Dub Pagan.

With a $1,200 first place prize for both men and women professionals in the select field of 24, Miss Suggs held a four-shot edge on her two closest rivals among the distaff devotees. They were veteran Patty Berg of St. Andrews, Ill., and hard-hitting Mickey Wright of Dallas, both with first round 57s.

The five men tied for the lead in their division were only a shot ahead of two long - time fairway favorites, were Bobby Cruickshank and Slammin' Sammy Snead. They matched par 54 after some had scrambling over the trap-erusted course on the shores of the ocean.

THEN CAME A GAP of three strokes to where Miss Wright and Miss Berg stood even at 57 with touring pros Shelley Mayfield of Westbury, N. Y., and Gardner Dickinson of Palm Beach, along with amateur Jim McCoy.

A gallery of 3,000 sun - baked spectators saw ancient Tommy Armour, the old "Silver Scot," fire a 58; two-time Masters champion Henry Picard a 59; Women's U.S. Open champion Betsy Rawls a 60 and six-time U. S. Amateur champion Glenna Collett Vare of Philadelphia at 57 years of age shoot a 61 which put her one shot ahead of Marlene Hagge and former British Amateur champion Barbara McIntire.

Dodgers Sign All But Two Players

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Only two players remained unsigned today for the 1961 season with the Los Angeles Dodgers. They are pitcher Ed Rakow and shortstop Maury Wills.

The Dodgers Tuesday signed outfielder Don Demeter and pitcher Phil Ortega.

Classic Leaders Assist in Entertainment Tournament

Robert McCulloch and Leonard Firestone, two of the leaders of the Palm Springs Golf Classic, are members of the board of another great tournament—the second annual World Entertainment Golf Championship.

Spearheaded by Arleen Covington, editor and publisher of Golf Life magazine, the tournament is the only one of its kind, allowing only actors, directors, cameramen, writers and producers to "get into the play" and only then, if they qualify.

THE TOURNAMENT has been set up as a tribute to the entertainment world, and the board of directors for the play is made up of such men as Bob Hope, who is executive committee chairman, Del Webb, Ernie Ford, George Gobel, Ray Milland, Johnny Weissmuller, Guy Madison, Fred Driscoll, Jack Kelly and Ed Crowley, who is honorary chairman.

Bob Welkie, a member at Bermuda Dunes, is defending champion.

THE TOURNAMENT will be held May 20-21 at Los Coyotes Country Club, 36 holes, and it will be televised over KRCA.

Miss Covington said that the tournament was born during the war years, when entertainment personnel played for spectators and all moneys collected went to Veterans Hospitals.

In these years, golf as a sport was fading and entertainment people like Bob Hope, Bing Crosby, Phil Harris, and many others helped revive it by playing these matches.

In Palm Springs for a brief vacation Miss Covington explained how the tournament was set up and how it would be run, and then, with her golf clubs in hand, left for a round of golf on the new 18-hole Ranch Club golf course.

Moore Expected To Sign Today To Meet Rinaldi

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Archie Moore, under fire from the New York State Athletic Commission, expects to sign today for a light heavyweight title defense against Giulio Rinaldi of Italy at New York, June 10.

In New York, Harry Markson, director of boxing at Madison 46-year-old Moore had agreed "in principle" to the Rinaldi fight, which would be televised nationally.

However, Rinaldi — who out-pointed Moore in a non-title bout at Rome on Oct. 29 — is not expected to sign until next week, according to Markson.

THE NEW YORK commission messaged Moore Tuesday at his San Diego home that he must arrange a title defense "forthwith" or risk having his title vacated because he hadn't defended since Aug. 12, 1959—18 months ago.

Moore lost the National Boxing Association version of the 175-pound championship last Oct. 25 when the NBA vacated it because of his long delay in defending. However, he still is recognized as champion in New York, Massachusetts, California, Europe and the British Empire.

Harold Johnson of Philadelphia won the vacant NBA crown on Feb. 7 by stopping Jesse Bowdry of St. Louis in the ninth round at Miami Beach.

GRIPING GOES WITH GOLF

Courses Come in for Complaints from Pros

By HAL WOOD
United Press International
TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI) — They say a griping army is a healthy one—and if that's true, the golfing army should be the healthiest in the world.

Instead, it's made up of the greatest group of hypochondriacs known to man.

Every athlete on the follow-the-sun tour has an ache or a pain—or if he doesn't then he's griping.

MOSTLY, GOLFERS complain about golf courses.

"The Arizona Country Club has too much sand in the traps," moaned Stan Leonard. "They should hire bulldozers, remove about a million tons of sand and build roads with it."

"The greens on most courses are too bumpy," said Ken Venturi.

"Par-four holes longer than 450-460 yards are too long and unfair," says Arnold Palmer.

"The water holes at the Eldorado course at Palm Springs are unfair," says Gary Player of South Africa. "They shouldn't have water in bunkers."

Baylor Held to 14 As Celtics Trip L. A.
ST. LOUIS (UPI) — With Laker star Elgin Baylor scoring only 14 points, Los Angeles was defeated Tuesday night by the World Champion Boston Celtics, 113-93.

The Boston defense and an ankle injury combined to hold down Baylor's scoring.

Indians Drop 7th In DVL

Palm Springs crippled Indians, minus another member and reduced to a six - man squad, lost their seventh game in Desert Valley competition Tuesday night when Yucaipa ran its unbeaten league string to seven wins, downing the Tribe, 60-35, on the local floor.

Coach Jim Workman was without the services of Mark Edwards, fourth in DVL scoring, and put in a patched-up line-up against the high flying Thunderbirds of Yucaipa.

TYRONE TAYLOR and Carlos Reyes scored ten each in the Indians' effort and Morris had eight.

DESERT VALLEY LEAGUE
Yucaipa 7, L. Palms 27, PA 214

Tuesday's Results
Yucaipa, 60, Palm Springs, 35.
Coachella, 61, Indio, 47.
Banning, 44, Twentynine Palms, 28.

The visitors roared to 30-16 lead at half-time after the Tribe had narrowly edged them in the first period, 12-10.

They added 30 points in the final half to the Indians' 19 to win going away.

Palm Springs Bs also dropped their preliminary game to Yucaipa, 22-36.

IN OTHER DVL games Tuesday night, Coachella moved into second place with a 61-47 victory over Indio, the host team.

Banning drew into a third place tie by defeating Twentynine Palms 48-26.

The loss left the Indians alone in the cellar of the DVL with no wins and seven losses. Yucaipa, two games ahead with three to go, looms as the champion.

Last night's Varsity score:
Yucaipa 60, Palm Springs 35.

SHADOW MOUNTAIN TOURNEY TO DRAW RECORD ATTENDANCE

Heavy advance sales of box seats indicate record crowds for the 10th Annual Invitational Tennis Tournament at Shadow Mountain Club February 17, 18 and 19.

Robert G. Meyler, chairman of the tournament committee, said that indication is that Saturday attendance this year will be well ahead of previous Saturdays.

Also of interest to local tennis patrons was John Cranston's performance in the National Indoor Tennis Championships concluded Sunday in New York. Cranston, who will appear at SMC reached the semi-finals at the New York event, defeating Mexico's Rafael Osuna on the way.

COUPLE CHARGED IN JEWEL THEFT

A young married couple was arrested yesterday, charged with suspicion of burglary after they allegedly took an $8,000 diamond necklace from a local hotel room and attempted to pawn it in an Indio pawn shop.

Arrested were Elva Alvarez, 17, and her husband, Jose Antonio Alvarez, 20, the parents of two children, as they attempted to pawn a diamond necklace taken from the hotel room of Mrs. Blanche Resenthaus, visiting in Palm Springs from Sun Valley.

The theft, which took place yesterday morning about 11 a.m., was undetected until the couple tried to pawn the necklace at the Indio store.

The necklace was described as a single strand of diamonds, set in platinum, containing 84 diamonds with a total weight of 17½ carats.

The Alvarez family resides at 130 Ocotillo Road.

R. L. Leatherman To Be Camera Club Speaker

Robert L. Leatherman of San Bernardino, an associate of the Photographic Society of America and well known to Desert Museum audiences, will be the program speaker for the Palm Springs Camera Club at 8 p.m., Friday, in the clubroom of the Security First National Bank at Ramon Road.

Leatherman will present a complete demonstration on the "how to do it" theme of capturing close-ups of small animal life as well as the larger animals of the desert.

The Leatherman pictures are familiar to readers of various desert magazines, including publications devoted to the preservation and conservation of desert wild life. He has been active over a long period of years in camera clubs and is a 5-star exhibitor in both black and white in international exhibitions. His record of awards is extensive.

Prior to the program, president Norma Armstrong will preside at the mid-winter business session which will include election of officers for the 1961-1962 season and the adoption of a constitution and by-laws for the club. Visitors interested in membership are welcome.

Seven Building Permits Issued In Cathedral City

CATHEDRAL CITY — Seven building permits with a total valuation of $7,370 were issued in this area last week by the county building department office at Palm Desert.

Permits went to: R. E. Ogden, 70-340 Placerville Road, wall, $795; Frank Cunningham, 67-920 Highway 11, awning, $600; Frank Glass, 38-238 Channel, fence, $150; Earl Mull, 32-652 Navajo Trail, addition, $150; Harry Kahn, 70-260 Highway 111, patio and carport, $1,875; Mag Oil Company, 68-830 Broadway, sign, $2,000; M. F. Kreis, 67-399 Highway

Self-Sufficient

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—Two sailors created quite a stir among ladies in the laundrette.

Mary Anne Daniel said they washed and dried their clothes, then brought out an iron and pressed the things right on the spot.

Minnie Lowe Services Set For Saturday

DESERT HOT SPRINGS —Funeral services for Mrs. Minnie E. Lowe, 69, who died at a local hotel here Monday afternoon after a long illness, will be held at 11 a.m., Saturday, in the Dillard Chapel, Long Beach, with the Eastern Star there officiating.

A native of Oregon, Mrs. Lowe had lived in Long Beach since 1918. She had been a winter resident here eight years. The widow of builder Arthur A. Lowe, she was active in the Athens Chapter, Eastern Star, for 25 years.

Survivors include a sister, Mrs. Rose Bennett, Long Beach. Entombment will be in the Angelus Abbey, Compton. Desert Mortuary is in charge of arrangements.

Shuffleboard Officers Named

DESERT HOT SPRINGS—Harry Baldwin has been named president of the Shuffleboard Club here for 1961-62 in an election of four officers and two members for the coming year.

Vice president is Bing Straughan, treasurer Mrs. Harry Baldwin, and secretary Mrs. Estelle O. Baker. New board members are Leslie Miller, retiring president, and Clyde Moore.

Back Seat Rider

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — James Davis watched a small foreign-make car pass him on the road, the young couple inside obviously enroute to a dance.

The man driving was in a tuxedo. The girl in a full-skirted evening gown sat in the back. Her wide skirt not only filled the entire back seat but flowed over to the front seat, "almost hiding her date," Davis said.

Market Basket Opens Today

Wednesday, Feb. 15, 1961

THE DESERT SUN Page 5B

ATTRACTIVE NEW Market Basket, located in the Palm Springs Shopping Center, officially opened its doors to the public today. The market, combining with the present operation of a Thrifty Drug Store and Palm Springs Lanes, will soon be joined ed by a cleaning establishment, donut shop, and bank. The grand opening celebration is now in progress with many specials being offered to the shopper. (Desert Sun Photo)

Market Basket Started in 1930 With One Store

Widely recognized as one of America's fastest-growing food retailers, Market Basket began with one store in 1930 in Pasadena. From that one store with its six employees, Market Basket has become a chain of 44 super markets, with a payroll of about 2,000 people.

WITHIN TWO years after the founding, Market Basket opened seven more stores, attesting to the popularity of the firm's policy of good food at low prices. Originally confined to the sale of grocery items, the company introduced a department of health aids, toiletries and sundries in 1933. Six years later it purchased the fruits and vegetables departments which were formerly run as a concession. Not long after, meat sections of the stores were brought under the management of Market Basket.

MEANWHILE, COMPANY officials realized that a large central warehouse and office could more efficiently supply the increasing number of stores, and for that purpose constructed quarters on Arroyo Parkway. In 1948 the pressure of expansion forced a second move, this time to a 12-acre site on Eastern Avenue near Slauson in Los Angeles.

A produce warehouse was built that year in the heart of the Los Angeles produce market district.

SERVICE FACILITIES of the company include warehouses for groceries and produce, a central office and a large delicatessen kitchen.

Founded as a partnership, Market Basket in 1938 filed articles of incorporation with all stock being held by company employees. All stock continued to be held within the company until 1943 when revised articles of incorporation were filed and stock made available to the public. Today, the company is owned by nearly 4,000 stockholders, mostly Southern Californians.

Lenten Services Start Tonight at Hope Lutheran

PALM DESERT — The Hope Lutheran Church of Palm Desert, will hold Special Lenten services beginning Wednesday evening, Feb. 15. The services will be held at the Community Church and will begin at 8 p.m.

The public is invited to these Lenten services, The Rev. E. David Natwick, pastor, said.

MOST EMPLOYEES LOCAL RESIDENTS

Nearly all employees at the new Palm Springs Market Basket are local residents, according to an announcement by Neal D. Ramsey, president of the company.

This is in keeping with Market Basket's policy of staffing its markets with personnel recruited from the area in which the store is located, Ramsey said.

STORE SUPERVISORS and the company's personnel directors spent several days on the site interviewing and selecting applicants. Those assigned to the new market then were schooled in the company's announced policy of friendly, courteous service and customer satisfaction.

Following Market Basket's practice of promoting employees to key positions, the store manager and four department heads have been transferred from other company locations.

STORE MANAGER Wallace Cannon has served Market Basket customers for over eight years, most recently as manager of the Baldwin Park store. He and Mrs. Cannon will reside in a home recently purchased in Palm Springs. Originally from Memphis, Tenn., he has been a Californian for 15 years.

A member of the Baldwin Park Rotary Club, he takes an interest in golf and fishing.

HEADING THE grocery department is Fred Robertson, who held a similar position in the Baldwin Park store and is now in his sixth year with the company. He and his wife recently moved to a home in Palm Springs. Born in Indiana, Robertson has lived in the state for seven years. His spare-time activities include oil painting and skin diving.

Meat department head Bernard Bitter is a six-year veteran with Market Basket and has had much other previous experience in meat retailing. Transferred from the Redlands store, Bitter and his family will remain at their Riverside residence for the present. Illinois was his home until 1946 when he moved to California. Outside activities include an interest in scouting.

ROBERT SIKES brings 11 years of experience to his job as head of the fruits, vegetables and frozen foods department. His eight years at Market Basket include two years as a department head, most recently in Redlands. Sikes, his wife, a son and three daughters now live in Cathedral City.

Ex-Texas Tom Williams will be in charge of sundries, health and beauty aids and beverages. Williams has nine years of experience in the field. He, his wife and two children, are moving from their Glendora home to live in Banning. A Navy veteran, he has lived in the state since 1945.

NEW EMPLOYEES were put through an intensive training course under the supervision of experienced personnel. Actual working conditions are duplicated during these training periods. Some employees are assigned as "shoppers" and others check them out.

All employees participate in stocking shelves so that everybody in the market will be thoroughly familiar with the stores arrangement and location of merchandise, Cannon said. This type of training program "deserves most of the credit for the smooth, orderly openings of Market Basket markets and the courteous, competent crews for which the company is noted."

TWO HIKERS TO OFFICIALLY OPEN '61 FAIR

INDIO — Two cross country hikers from Indio will officially open the Riverside County Fair and National Date Festival here Friday.

The hikers, Robert Maggi and Kenneth Green, both 27, are scheduled to arrive on the grounds at about 11:30 a.m., after walking down from Riverside with the festival's two camels, Sandy and Peewee.

They also will bring a congratulatory proclamation to the festival's board of directors from the Board of Supervisors, a letter to Queen Scheherazade, and gifts for her and her princesses. Gates will open daily at 9:30 a.m., through Feb. 26.

Carnival Air to Prevail

A real carnival atmosphere will prevail at the opening of the new Market Basket at 2425 McCallum Road, manager Wallace Cannon reported.

The gala celebration will feature dozens of free prizes, refreshments, entertainment and bargains in all departments, according to the management.

PRIZE DRAWINGS will be held each Saturday for two weeks for two complete sets of prizes including a Lyman 15-foot boat with a 40 H. P. Scott motor and trailer, and a Webcor hi-fi console. No purchase or drawing attendance is required. Entrants simply sign their names and addresses and deposit tickets in boxes provided at the store. Entries must be made and deposited at the new Palm Springs market only, it was emphasized.

Other prizes to be given away include electric appliances, cookware, camping equipment, radios, phonographs and bags of groceries, Cannon said.

REFRESHMENTS SERVED the first three days will include Funfair sundaes, cotton candy and popcorn. Ladies will receive free orchids, and balloons will be given to the children.

Souvenir photographs of kiddies will be taken and developed on the spot free of charge, from 1 to 5 p.m., Thursday and Friday, and 10:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Saturday.

Later features of the celebration include free Tinkertown carnival rides.

Encore, Encore

LAKE VILLA, Ill. (UPI)—Two hundred Chicago youngsters at Hastings YMCA Camp near here stood on a hill and watched the camp stable go up in flames.

One freckle-faced boy turned to camp director Marvin (Mickey) Erdal and said: "Gee, Mick, this is a pretty good opening campfire. What you got planned for tomorrow night?"

ROAD EXTENSION TO AID TRAFFIC

DESERT HOT SPRINGS — A one-mile stretch of the northerly extension of North Indian Avenue near here will open a more direct route to the Twenty-nine Palms Highway — state route 187—from Desert Hot Springs and Palm Springs, Herbert A. Ecclestone, chairman of the highway committee of the DHS Chamber of Commerce, announced.

The new route will take a closer road across the Morongo and Mission washes, joining route 187 at the southern end of Morongo valley. Further development of the route will depend on the construction of an interchange at the Indian - Highway 99 intersection, Ecclestone said.

Current projects within Desert Hot Springs include widening of Palm Drive with curbs and gutters, between Hacienda and Dillon Road.

TELEVISION IN REVIEW

Dialing and Filing, Present, Future

By FRED DANZIG
NEW YORK 14 — "The Ragtime Era," a 12-part series produced by the national educational television people is making appearances as a syndicated property and I finally caught up with an episode the other night. If it plays in your TV area, watch it. The star of the show is Max Morath of Denver, a fast-talking young piano-plunker who seems to know every song ever written between the Gay 90s and the Roaring 20s. He matches his delightful playing and singing with a thorough knowledge of social influences on our songs. The result is a most rewarding show.

NBC-TV's DAYTIME "Special for Women" series may turn up as a nighttime offering this summer. Marlo Thomas will be cast as Joey Bishop's sister in the Monday, March 27, episode of her father's CBS-TV series. "The Danny Thomas Show." The episode served as a pilot film for a proposed series that would star Bishop.

RUDYARD KIPPLING'S novel, "The Light That Failed," will be the "Family Classics" presentation on CBS-TV for Thursday, March 16. Eva Gabor marches in the St. Patrick's Day parade when she appears as a guest star in ABC-TV's "Harrigan and Son" on March 17.

It now looks as though Hugh Downs will be the host of NBC-TV's nighttime version of "Concentration," expected to begin in April as a Monday night replacement for "Dante." Downs, who runs the daytime version of the show, protested when another personality appeared set to host the new series.

"NAKED CITY" may tell its stories with a too-strident tone and slashes of self-conscious dialogue, but those Tennessee Williams-Paddy Chayefsky - Mickey Spillane-plot mixtures sure pack a wallop. The camera work is always part of the excitement, too. "The Rifleman," starring Chuck Connors, will remain part of ABC-TV's Western spread next season.

The CBS-TV campaign to bring the series to its own schedule has failed.

"THE ERNIE FORD Show" for Thursday, March 30 on NBC-TV probably will originate from an aircraft carrier at Long Beach, Calif., as a salute to the golden anniversary of naval aviation.

Mark Richman will star in "Cain's Hundred," a new full-hour adventure series being produced by MGM for NBC-TV's 1961-62 season.

The current bearer of the name Rin Tin Tin will turn up as a guest star, in the role of a seeing-eye dog, on a forthcoming "Route 66" episode on CBS-TV. Martha Hyer will portray the dog's blind master.

LOOK FOR "THE Untouchables" to start a half-hour later on ABC-TV next season, at 10 p.m. EST. On the other hand, CBS-TV hopes GREAT PERSONALITIES of Mexican history were presented in dolls made recently by sixth grade pupils of Cielo Vista school teacher Michael Arsulich. Dolls, made by pupils with clothing appropriate to the periods, were supplements to maps, library research and papers written by the pupils. Shown with their own doll creations are, from left, Cecilia Contreras, Francine Gallarini, Kim Kropf and Maura Gonzales.

Cecilia made a doll of Malinche, Cortez' interpreter, and used some of her own deep copper tinged hair for the doll. Francine and Kim made dolls of a gentleman and lady of the Spanish court, dressed in velvet and lace. Maura's doll of Empress Carlota, tragedy-stricken wife of the French puppet ruler Maximilian, was richly gowned in lace taken from a former Gonzales household tablecloth. (Desert Sun Photo)

Desert Bridge Club to Meet Thursday Night

Regular weekly meeting of the Desert Duplicate Bridge Club is scheduled Thursday night at the Playhouse, under the sponsorship of the City Recreation Department.

Sixteen tables were in play at the last session. Using the Skip-Mitchell system, winners were: North - South - Mrs. Doris Goldman and Dr. R. G. Frey, first; Mrs. Ruth Erickson and George Yoxall, second; Mrs. M. Elser and Pete Case, third; Mrs. Edith Simmons and Mrs. Edith Chalfont, fourth.

East - West - Mrs. France Itkin and Mrs. Dorothy Cohan, first; Mrs. W. G. Rogers and Mrs. E. W. Hughes, second; Miss Betty Hisey and William Peacock, third; Mrs. Bee Dearth and Mrs. William Barnhart, fourth.

State Senator Renews Attack on TV Commercials

SACRAMENTO, Calif. — Sen. Stanford C. Shaw, D-Ontario, Tuesday renewed his attack on television commercials, especially at dinner hours when they "discuss bowels, hemorrhoids, sore feet, livers and nasal passages."

Shaw also criticized regular programs in which he said "prime viewing time is consumed almost exclusively by inane situation-comedies, trifling game shows and an oppressive bulk of repetitious mystery and western programs."

THE SENATOR introduced a resolution demanding that the Federal Communications Commission "take immediate, conscientious steps to improve the television industry" or immediately surrender its control to the states.

Shaw introduced a bill in the 1959 legislature to control TV commercials, but it was dropped when it was learned that television is under jurisdiction of the federal government.

HE SAID SHIFTING television regulating responsibility to the states "might create an uncoordinated means of bettering the industry," but he added that "it could not conceivably be less effective than the present absence of regulation."

Dr. McKeown To Hold Bible Meeting Here

Dr. B. A. McKeown will conduct a three day Bible conference at the Desert Chapel, 630 Vella Road here, pastor Rev. Jack B. Morrow announced.

Dr. McKeown will speak at 7:30 p.m., Friday, on "The Requisite to Prove God." At 7:30 p.m., Saturday, he will speak on "the 20th Century Challenge."

During the 11 a.m. Sunday worship service, Dr. McKeown will speak on "Think on These Things," and will deliver "The Most Important Message of the Hour," as his final sermon at 7 p.m., Sunday.

Fly-In Breakfast To Be Held Feb. 25

Scheduled for Saturday, Feb. 25, is a Fly-In Breakfast at Palm Springs Airport by the Salton Aero Club.

Zaddie Bunker, the "flying grandmother" of Palm Springs is chairman and official hostess of the event. Breakfast will be served from 8:30 to 12 noon.

The public is invited, and members of flying clubs in California, Nevada and Arizona have been invited to attend. Charge for the breakfast is $1.

Oil Canner
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A machine produced by the Chemtron Corporation's Girdler Process Equipment Division here can fill 385,000 quart cans of lubricating oil in eight hours—enough oil to keep 190 American car owners in oil changes for 50 years.

CHECK OFFENSES UP, RECORD GOOD

Chief of Police August G. Kettmann today released figures showing a great increase in bad check traffic, and a good record of recovery.

According to statistics drawn up by Det. Lt. Robert White, Det. Marvin Rudin had a total of 381 bad check complaints in 1960, of which 121 were cleared by arrests and 81 were cleared by other means.

This, compared to totals of money, found that of a total of $42,226.91 in bad checks reported, police recovered approximately 58.2 per cent, or $24,590.35.

In top felony crimes in 1960, Chief Kettmann said that the local police had one murder, one manslaughter, four rapes of which three were solved.

Economic Slump Worries Kennedy

WASHINGTON, D.C. — President Kennedy told his cabinet and Democratic congressional leaders today that he is "anxious to do something about" the economic slump.

Speaker Sam Rayburn, one of the White House conferees, said the situation calls for "the most urgency since the great depression" of the early 1930s.
